Pastor's Perceptions

It is always good to have a refresher class when it has been a long time since learning something. My sermon last Sunday about being "Methodist" sparked some interesting conversations this week among people who had forgotten or who had never known how involved John Wesley was in the fabric of his times.

Of the two brothers, John and Charles, John the organizer who is credited as being the founder of Methodism, and Charles the poet, Charles is my favorite. Therefore, let's consider Charles. He usually gets short shrift because he was John's younger brother, born December 18, 1707, four years after John.

Without the lyrical theology of Charles Wesley to carry the messages of God's universal love and boundless grace to broken people, the Methodist movement would have died while still on British soil. Singers carried this theology of redemptive love and sanctifying grace across the oceans and around the world. John may have organized it, but it was Charles who gave the movement wings.

Although the brothers collaborated throughout their lives, Charles did not approve of John's Deed of Declaration separating Methodism from the Church of England, nor did his brother's ordination of Coke and Asbury for their mission in the colonies sit well. It was Charles who penned the infamous critique:

*"So easily are Bishops made /
By man's or woman's whim? /
W - his hands on C--- hath laid /
But who laid hands on him?"*

The rub was that John Wesley had sent lay men to be preachers in the Colonies in North America but they could not offer communion because they were not ordained, so John took it upon himself to "lay hands on them" and ordain them. Only bishops of the church were supposed to do that.

Every bit as steeped in scripture as was John, Charles could not write a poem without it being full of biblical imagery. In 1762 they published Short Hymns on Select Passages of Holy Scripture, a small book that remains, in ST Kimbrough's words,

"one of the richest lyrical commentaries on the Bible in the English language." [Lost in Wonder: Charles Wesley, the meaning of his hymns today (Nashville: Upper Room Books, 1987, 18)]

The Hymnal Revision Committee (1984-1989) sharply reduced the number of Charles Wesley's hymns in the 1989 hymnal because surveys in the 1980's showed that almost no one sang them anymore. The tunes were either "too difficult" or "too simplistic and shopworn" or they had too many verses, and so on. However, there has been a revival of Charles Wesley's poems set now to tunes from around the world. If you listen to some of the Global Praise CDs you'll hear how relevant Charles Wesley sounds when accompanied by pan pipes, drums, marimbas and horns.

I thank God for the lyrical theology of this humble poet whose tender heart, depth of scriptural knowledge, and love of God blesses us yet today as we sing ourselves ever more deeply into the Mystery who is God.

Yours for a new day,

Beryl

Enrichment Hours

October 19 & 26—11:30 a.m. in Chapel

Welcome to another season of open discussions during our Enrichment Hours. Our topic this series, from 11:30-12:30 in the CHAPEL will be "Kingdom Dreams, Violent Realities," a series of reflections from the General Board of Church and Society of the United Methodist Church. Sessions will be moderated by Dr. B. and Tom Trzyna, though the conversation will be wide-reaching and general. Please join us for either or both sessions: October 19 and 26 for this timely series.

Parents' Second Sundays Study Group

On the second Sunday of each month is a gathering of parents to get to know each other and grow in our faith. Through the summer we met at a park; in October we had our first discussion group meeting to study a different parable each month. On November 9th, we will read and discuss the parable "The Story of Two Foundations" (Matthew 7:24-27). Families with children (babies through high school) will gather in the Fireside Room for a light lunch after church, and then the parents will gather in Perry Hall for study and discussion while children are looked after and cared for by church staff nearby. Diane Chapel will facilitate the discussion with questions from the Bible study book "Parables of Jesus" by J. Ellsworth Kalas. Participants do not need to do prep work—no advance reading required, no need to bring food—and each discussion topic is self-contained so you don't have to come every time; just come as you are!

Trick or Treating in Wedgwood

On Friday, October 31, 2014, from 4 to 6pm our Wedgwood Community will host their annual business-district Halloween trick-or-treat along 35th Ave NE, a tradition that began in the 1950's. Be sure to stop by Sand Point CUMC's open trunk at 35th Ave. NE & NE 70th St. Look for familiar faces and be sure to thank them for their community spirit! See you at trick or treat!

Sand Point Little Ones, Kids, and Youth Assistant Training

Oct. 19 from 11a.-m.12 p.m.

On October 19th, right after the service, Sand Point Little Ones, Kids, and Youth are having a joint Assistant Leader Training in the Fireside Room. All Assistant Leaders are asked to be present. If you are thinking of working with any of these groups, you are invited to join us to find out what being an Assistant Leader is like and ask any questions you may have.

Family Trick-or-Treating

Oct. 31 @ 6 p.m. in front of the church

This Halloween, October 31, at 6 p.m., Sand Point families will be meeting in front of the church to celebrate together. We will be dividing into two groups: one group staying in front of the church to hand out candy and the other group trick-or-treating through the neighborhood together. All are welcome to join and don't forget your costume!

Scarecrow Mini-Fest

Sand Point Community families met up for the Scarecrow Mini-fest at the Magnuson Children's Garden on September 27. We had great fun playing games and building our very own scarecrow! Our scarecrow is still on display and can be found at the entrance of the Magnuson Community Garden P-Patch. Stop by to say hello!
